Friedman and Nazarian Hold Lead in City Council Election

BY SAMUEL BRASLOW

Councilmember Lester Friedman and Public Workers Commissioner Sharona Nazarian have established themselves as the clear front runners for the three open Beverly Hills City Council seats in the June 7 election, with Friedman declaring victory to the Courier. As of press time, Councilmember John Mirisch maintains a thin lead for the third spot, with Planning Commission Chair Andy Licht and Councilmember Robert Wunderlich within striking distance.

The county will release updated numbers on June 10 at 2 p.m. The Courier will update this story online.

Friedman currently claims first place with 1,914 votes, or about 19% of the vote. Nazarian appears likely to become the first Persian woman and second ever Iranian American elected to the City Council, with 1,824 votes, or about 18% of the total.

“The campaign is finally over, and the early returns have me in a position to be elected for a second term. I am grateful to have the opportunity to serve our residents,” Friedman told the Courier.

Term Limits Set For Landslide Victory in Beverly Hills

BY SAMUEL BRASLOW

Early returns indicate that Beverly Hills voters have overwhelmingly passed a measure imposing term limits on City Council members and City Treasurers. The ballot measure, known as Measure TL, will limit elected officials to three terms or 12 years in office.

Although the vote will not be certified for another 30 days from the election, Measure TL currently has over 80% of the vote, all but guaranteeing its passage.

Proponents of the measure stated that it will “create more competitive elections, encourage more residents to run for office, and give voters a wider range of choice,” according to arguments in favor of the measure submitted to the city by former City Treasurer Eliot Finkel, and former Councilmembers Mark Egerman and Robert Tanenbaum.

“Term limits will also provide voters with a regular opportunity for change, which will bring new viewpoints, innovative ideas and fresh perspectives to our city,” according to the former officials.

The changes reflect an effort to improve transparency and accessibility to the district’s governing process. Cedars-Sinai Gives First Tour of Guerin Children's Facility

BY SAMUEL BRASLOW

Cedars-Sinai Medical Center has given the public its first glimpse at Guerin Children's, its new childcare facility made possible by the single largest donation in the nonprofit's 119-year history. The 26-bed facility, designed to provide care from infancy to adulthood, will open to patients in the late summer.

Complete with an interactive media room, art by local artists, an outdoor garden, and a lounge for families, Cedars-Sinai hopes Guerin's Children will establish the center as "an international destination for children and their families and as a leader in pediatric care and research in the United States," Cedars-Sinai President and CEO Thomas M. Priselac said in a statement.

The facility is designed to help parents and children during some of the most difficult times of their lives.

"Guerin Children's will provide extra support for parents, including sleeping arrangements in the hospital rooms so that the adults can be with their children as much as possible," Cedars-Sinai's Manager of Broadcast News told the Courier.

Priselac acknowledged the historic contribution by the Shapell Guerin Family Foundation and its president, Vera Guerin, that made the facility possible.

"The support and vision of Vera Guerin and the Shapell Guerin Family Foundation will have a lasting impact on the health of generations of children and families," he said.

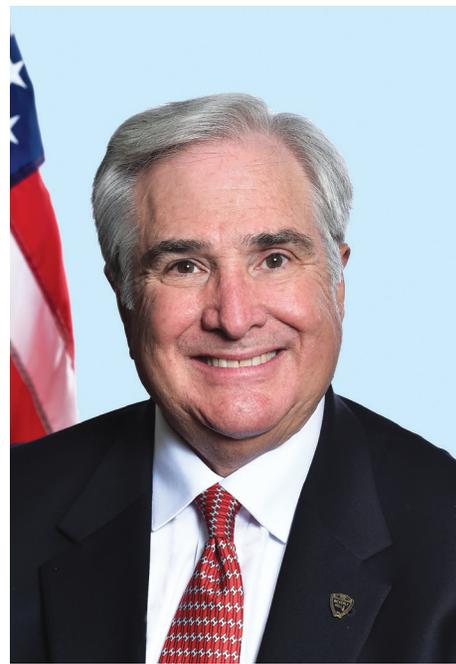

Guerin, described in a press release as a "longtime Cedars-Sinai supporter," served as the most recent past chair of the Cedars-Sinai Health System Board of Directors.

"Our family is passionate about Cedars-Sinai and about providing a continuum of care for patients from childhood to adulthood," Guerin previously said in a statement. "We are honored and humbled to play our part in supporting and building this incredible institution."

Fisher Reelected as Beverly Hills City Treasurer

BY SAMUEL BRASLOW

City Treasurer Howard Fisher

Beverly Hills voters appeared to deliver a clear victory to incumbent City Treasurer Howard Fisher, who is on track to serve another term with more than 63% of the vote as of press time. Challengers Jake Manaster and Gabrielle Pantera-Rowe trail behind with 27% and 9% of the vote, respectively.

Manaster conceded the race in a post on social media, acknowledging that the results "did not turn out as we had hoped despite doing everything a good solid campaign should do."

"Incumbencies are unquestionably always a very difficult barrier to overcome," he added. "No regrets and I remain committed to the volunteerism that has got me this far in life. Onward!"

Addressing the city, Fisher said, "Thank you for entrusting me with another term as the shepherd of the City's finances as your Treasurer. And I thank everyone who supported me, and all who voted in this election." ●

Hertzberg, Horvath Top Field for Open County Supervisor Seat

Lindsey Horvath

State Sen. Bob Hertzberg will move to the November general election in his bid to replace retiring county Supervisor Sheila Kuehl, with West Hollywood City Councilwoman Lindsey Horvath likely to join him in the runoff. Hertzberg topped the six-candidate field seeking the District 3 seat, which includes Beverly Hills. However, he fell short of the 50% of the vote needed to avoid a runoff.

Horvath was in second place as of press time, putting her on track to reach the November runoff with Hertzberg. But state Sen. Henry Stern was close behind, and hoping to mount a late challenge as ballots continued trickling in. In addition to Beverly Hills, the District 3 seat covers a majority of the San Fernando Valley, stretching from Westlake Village and Malibu to Calabasas, West Hills, Porter Ranch, San Fernando, Panorama City and Northridge, while also stretching to West Hollywood and Santa Monica.

Others running for the seat were business owners Roxanne Beckford Hoge, Jeffi Girgenti and Craig Brill. Kuehl threw her support behind Horvath, who was also backed by Supervisors Janice Hahn and Hilda Solis. Supervisor Kathryn Barger endorsed Hertzberg. The battle was widely anticipated to be a three-horse sprint among Horvath, Stern and Hertzberg, and that prediction played out. Homelessness and public safety were the top issues cited by candidates.

"As a mayor and council member, I have taken action to successfully get 80% of my community's unhoused population off the streets and into housing and services," Horvath wrote in her official candidate statement. "As supervisor, I will get the bureaucracy out of the way, create accountability, and expand partnerships with experts who know how to help people off the streets and into supportive housing." She also vowed to "prioritize your safety and fight for additional resources to provide care and prevent crime from happening in the first place."

Hertzberg has been in the state Senate since 2014 and previously served in the Assembly, including a stint as Assembly Speaker. He said the Board of Supervisors should have a representative from the San Fernando Valley. "At the state level, we've sent billions to L.A. County, but the county has squandered state funding I've worked tirelessly to bring home," he said in his official statement. "Now I'm running for county Supervisor to fix the mess. I will take responsibility for solving emergencies like homelessness, crime, housing, and mental health -- and make sure county government gets the job done."

Stern, an environmental attorney, has been in the state Senate since 2016. He also cited homelessness and public safety as leading issues, pointing to an audit of the county's homelessness and mental health system that found what he called $1 billion in "bottlenecked taxpayer funds." He also condemned what he called "a vicious cycle of hospitalization and incarceration for unhoused Angelenos facing mental illness and addiction."

Get Strong, STAY STRONG!

Exercise Tips for Seniors

This time of year, the topic of health and wellbeing is top of mind. After being indoors and, for many of us, more sedentary during COVID-19, it's more important than ever to get moving so that our bodies are as strong and flexible as possible. Research has shown that regular aerobic and strength exercises can reduce the risk of falls, maintain healthy muscles and joints, and help reduce blood pressure. At Belmont Village Senior Living, physical activity is part of our Whole Brain Fitness programming.

We know exercise does more than strengthen our bodies—it's an essential element for keeping our brains healthy. Here are some tips to create sustainable habits that you can implement in 2022!

ENCOURAGE DAILY ACTIVITY

At Belmont Village, many residents participate in small group activities, but it all starts with a little encouragement from our staff. Daily reminders from caregivers, friends and family to participate in physical activities at home or at local senior fitness classes can go a long way. During your phone calls or visits, make a point to ask about your loved one's physical activity level, and if it is low, provide them with a few of these ideas to help stimulate the brain and body.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LOCAL FITNESS CLASSES

Depending on COVID-19 restrictions in your area, you may benefit from in-person fitness classes. From chair yoga to aerobics, there are more fitness classes to choose from than ever before and many are specifically designed for seniors. For those who would rather get fit at home, look for videos created by your local YMCA or senior center. Residents at Belmont Village enjoy classes from their favorite instructors ranging from weight training to tai chi, activities that are great for whole body health.

BUILD YOUR STRENGTH

When we think of exercise videos, many of us think of aerobics. While aerobics are important and should be practiced daily, don't forget to incorporate strength training into your at-home exercise routine. Strength training doesn't have to involve lifting heavy weights. Many can be done while sitting down, using body weight or objects you can find around your home, such as water bottles.

GET CREATIVE WITH GAMES

Not all fitness routines need to focus on standard fitness classes. You can get creative with what you have at home! One fun activity residents at Belmont Village have enjoyed is kickball bowling. This activity can be replicated at home with a toy ball and plastic cups, and it's fun for the entire family.

GO FOR A WALK

Take advantage of the cooler weather to enjoy time in the fresh air. Walking is a great way to reduce restlessness and can even improve your mood. If your loved one must stay indoors, walking around the house and marching in place can help increase daily step counts. On hot days, walk early in the morning and remember to stay hydrated!

MAINTAIN DEXTERITY THROUGH ARTS AND CRAFTS

Seniors with limited mobility can stay active through arts and crafts, which can help maintain dexterity and cognitive abilities. From knitting to painting, seniors can stay active doing something they enjoy and engage their creativity.

At Belmont Village Fort Lauderdale, residents experience unparalleled hospitality, first-rate care and award-winning programming with ocean views. Offering Independent Living, Assisted

We know exercise does more than strengthen our bodies—it's an essential element for keeping our brains healthy.

Living and Memory Care, Belmont Village residents have everything they need at their fingertips—24/7 on-site nurses, a salon, a vibrant calendar of social and educational activities, chef-prepared meals and concierge services.

On June 6, Hollywood industry legend, director and show creator James Burrows sat down for a chat with actor/long-time friend Jason Bateman. Held at the Bram Goldsmith Theater at the Wallis Annenberg Center for the Performing Arts, the event was presented in conjunction with Writers Bloc. It was timed to coincide with the release of the new memoir, “Directed by James Burrows.”

Burrows’ name is associated with some of the most memorable – if not iconic – sitcoms in the history of television, including “The Bob Newhart Show,” “Taxi,” “Cheers,” “Frasier,” “Will & Grace,” “Friends,” and “Mike & Molly.” As Burrows noted, “Sam and Diane” (from “Cheers”) has become part of the comedic vernacular, needing no further explanation.

His remarkable career began with “The Mary Tyler Moore Show,” the result of a cheeky letter he wrote to Moore, an acquaintance, asking for a job on the show. The letter is reprinted in his memoir.

With the exception of 1997, Burrows was nominated for an Emmy every year from 1980 to 2005 and directed nearly 1,050 television episodes (he hit the 1,000 mark in 2015). Bateman revealed Burrows is alternately known as the “Laugh Doctor” or “Laugh Maker.”

Burrows is known for fostering a harmonious set, not easy to do in an industry known for egos that need salving. Bateman praised Burrows’ ability to create “an ecosystem that lends itself to a trust that permeates the set.” He noted fondly that he met Burrows when he was 15, adding that he’s currently 53, and cited the director as his “fourth favorite person in the world,” following his wife of 21 years, Amanda Anka, and his two children.

In the audience at The Wallis were writers as well as actor Sean Hayes, whom Bateman frequently referenced.

Burrows is the father of four women “all of whom are employed.” He added they’re “Beverly Hills girls, they all grew up here.” Nepotism, both Burrows and Bateman acknowledged, is pervasive in entertainment. Bateman’s father Kent is a movie producer and director who managed his son’s career for 20 years. Burrows’ was Tony award-winning humorist, writer and director Abe Burrows, winner of two Pulitzers. “My father opened the door,” said Burrows, “and when I [went in it] I was ready [in my mid 30s]. Make sure you are ready; a second opportunity is nearly impossible.”

When asked if there was a series he wished he had worked on, Burrows said “‘Curb Your Enthusiasm.’ It makes me laugh so hard and always surprises me; 90% of humor is the element of surprise.” ●

Petersen Automotive Museum Celebrates Iconic Ford Anniversary

To anyone with a birthyear that begins "19" and then has any number lower than 7 in the third position, the "Deuce" is forever burned into the cerebellum as the quintessential American hot rod. "What's a Deuce," you ask? It is the shorthand reference to a Ford built in 1932 (the "2" qualifying it as a "Deuce"), and it will be celebrated heartily on June 11 and 12.

The Petersen Automotive Museum will honor the 90th anniversary of the 1932 Ford with a new national holiday, "Hot Rod Day," on June 11, and celebrate the special day with the Museum's new "Ford Fever: The Deuce Turns 90" exhibit in the Ross and Beth Myers Gallery. Opening to the public on June 11, the new exhibit includes a definitive collection of groundbreaking 1932 Fords, such as Doane Spencer's historic Highboy and the influential McGee Roadster.

Stars of "Ford Fever: The Deuce Turns 90" include the famous McGee 1932 Roadster. Originally owned and built by Bob McGee, it paved the way for hot rods by combining speed and beauty with its shaved door handles, welded decklid, louvers and seamless look. McGee's Roadster would later make appearances in a host of television shows and movies, including "Hot Rod Gang" and an episode of "Happy Days," before being showcased on the National Mall in Washington, D.C.

Another icon on display is Doane Spencer's 1932 Ford Highboy, which won several show awards in the 1940s. Bored with the show circuit, Spencer took his Highboy to race at El Mirage and extensively modified it for Mexico's Carrera Panamericana road race. Other iconic 1932 Fords on display include the coupes of Doyle Gammell and Andy Kassa and the roadsters of Ernie Immerso and Ray Brown.

On the evening of June 11, the Deuce Gala will recognize luminaries in the hot rod world. Guests will include ZZ Top front man and hot rod enthusiast Billy F. Gibbons as well as Henry Ford III. Gibbons will perform and will also be honored with the Hot Rod Icon Award. The event also features a live auction.

On June 12 at 9 a.m., the annual Deuce Day Cruise-In will take place on the roof of the Petersen Automotive Museum's parking garage. The Cruise-In will feature many of the museum's greatest hot rods, including several AMBR winners and is slated to be one of the largest gatherings of 1932 Fords in Southern California.

"The 1932 Fords are marquee vehicles synonymous with the origins of hot rodding and worthy of an extended celebration," said Petersen Automotive Museum Executive Director Terry L. Karges. "The exhibit, gala and Cruise-In will pay tribute to the Fords' legacy, and how they continue to captivate automotive and hot-rodding enthusiasts 90 years after debuting on the market."

"Ford Fever: The Deuce Turns 90" is scheduled to run for several months. The Petersen Automotive Museum is located at 6060 Wilshire Blvd. in Los Angeles. Additional details about the exhibit, gala and Cruise-In are available at the museum's website <https://www.petersen.org/events>. ●

Measure TL was placed on the ballot amid controversy over a legally problematic provision that applies the limits to terms served prior to its passage. When the City Council voted to leave the question of term limits up to residents, Councilmember John Mirisch and then-Mayor Robert Wunderlich both voiced concerns over the retroactive nature of the measure. Mirisch voted against putting the measure on the ballot while Wunderlich, who noted his objection to that particular element of the proposal, opted to let voters decide.

Though the measure garnered the overwhelming support of voters on June 7, its reach remains unsettled. California's Government Code states that any restriction on City Council limits should not consider terms served prior to the adoption of the law and "shall apply prospectively only."

But Measure TL says that "an individual's previous and current terms of office shall be counted."

City Attorney Laurence Wiener acknowledged that the provision leaves the law open to legal challenge. But, he says, the issue has never come in front of a court before.

As currently written, the measure now bars Mirisch, Mayor Lili Bosse, and Vice Mayor Julian Gold from running for reelection. Mirisch, who ran in this most recent cycle, would be allowed to serve out a fourth term if he succeeds in holding his seat. He has not ruled out either running for Council again if he loses or running for a fifth term, though either would require a legal challenge to the law.

"I certainly am not thinking ahead that far, but I wouldn't rule it out for that reason," he previously told the Courier.

While no court has weighed in on the matter, then-Attorney General Kamala Harris opined on the retroactivity question in 2012, writing that term limits could not apply to terms previously served.

"A term served on a town council that was served prior to the effective date of a local initiative term-limit ordinance may not be counted against the term limit imposed by that ordinance," Harris wrote. "We find no ambiguity in the requirement of Government Code section 36502(b) that locally enacted term-limit provisions must apply prospectively." ●

Moments from Election Night in Beverly Hills

Vera Markowitz sits with her son as disappointing returns place her out of reach of the City Council.

Councilmember Robert Wunderlich acknowledges disappointment as the early returns put him just out of reach of a second term.

"It has always been my goal to improve the operations and functionality of the Board of Education," Board President Mary Wells told the Courier.

Wells previously convened two ad hoc committees to update and support board governance, a Board Bylaw Committee and a Board Governance Handbook Committee. The majority of the Board's bylaws have remained unchanged since 2009. The Board reviewed the recommendations of the committees at its June 7 meeting.

The changes to the bylaws would require Board members to "sign an annual affidavit confirming residency in the City of Beverly Hills under penalty of perjury," a change that follows controversy surrounding the residency status of former Board Member Tristen Walker-Schuman.

Walker-Schuman stepped down as Board Vice President in September last year following detailed allegations that she had moved from Beverly Hills to Pittsburgh. Walker-Schuman declined to address the allegations, but maintained that she remained a legal resident of Beverly Hills.

The recommended changes also clarify the process for resigning Board members, who now must notify the Board President of their intention to resign and give a copy of their resignation letter to the Board secretary. The secretary will, in turn, file the letter with the County Superintendent.

The recommendations include giving Board members and the public more time to review meeting agendas and accompanying documents, which are currently posted 72 hours prior to a meeting. The ad hoc committee pushed this to 5 days.

The bylaws articulate the belief that "late night meetings deter public participation, can affect the Board's decision-making ability, and can be a burden to staff." As such, the committee recommended moving the end time of meetings from 10:30 to 9 p.m. "unless extended to a specific time determined by a majority of the Board."

The Board also agreed to grant Board members a nominal monthly stipend of $240. Wells explained to the Courier that most school boards compensate their members and that BHUSD has been an exception. The Board landed on the number based on the size of the district.

At the same meeting, a majority of the Board declined to approve an amendment to its contract with ProWest Constructors. The amendment would move another nearly $9 million from Measure BH bond funds to the school's contract with ProWest for the modernization of Beverly Hills High School buildings B1 and B2. Wells told the Courier that the Board did not have enough information to approve the amendment and opted to wait until the district found a new Bond Manager.

At a June 6 meeting, the Board of Education also reviewed policy regarding the process and procedure of granting so-called grandparent permits starting with the 2022-23 school year. Under the permit, grandparents living within the BHUSD boundaries who have grandchildren that live outside the district can enroll them in the BHUSD. The Board discussed types of permits, admittance considerations, length of permits and residency criteria.

The number of permits available will be based on the percentage of space available per grade, with 25% of available spaces at each grade level open to those with a grandparent permit. No additional sections will be added, and the number of permits will be capped at 100 for next year. Permits will be open to grades TK-12, as long as their grandparent has lived within the BHUSD attendance boundaries for 10 years or more.

"Our plan is to take the discussion we had tonight and put it into policy," BHUSD Superintendent Dr. Bregy said. "We will bring that back to our next regularly scheduled board meeting on June 14."

Permits will be granted on a time-stamped, first-come, first-served basis, and families will be notified by July 15 to plan accordingly.

Staff will bring back the policy for the first reading before the Board at its June 14 meeting. ●

Friedman reiterated his focus on "safety in our community," highlighting the current Council's launch of the Real Time Watch Center, the Beverly Hills Police Department's drone program, and the expansion of the city's CCTV network.

"I am proud of what our City Council has done and look forward to working for the betterment of our community in the future," he said.

Despite her strong lead, Nazarian stopped short of declaring an outright victory.

"I want to thank my family, friends, volunteers and supporters for their trust in me. I ran a grassroots campaign with integrity and honesty on the issues important to the residents," she told the Courier.

Nazarian attributed the results to a "clear message and vision for Beverly Hills to bring stronger leadership towards safety and security."

"I am proud that I ran an honest and positive campaign that focused on my platform to build a stronger, safer, and more unified Beverly Hills," she said. "There are still votes to be counted, and I will respect the process."

Mirisch, Licht, and Wunderlich all fall within roughly 1% of each other as of press time. Mirisch, who is running for his fourth term, expressed some surprise about the results, given that he took the most votes in his last two election cycles.

Licht described himself as "humbled" by the support from friends, family, and the community, as evidenced by the sizable gathering at his home for an election celebration party on June 7.

"We ran a great campaign, it was a lot of fun, I met many great people and win or lose this was an amazing journey for me," he told the Courier.

Mirisch declined to comment on the current results, opting to wait until the county releases updated numbers on Friday. He extended "congratulations to the winners and gratitude to all the candidates for putting themselves out there and being willing to step up and serve our city."

Wunderlich declined to comment to the Courier, though he expressed disappointment to the Courier at his election night party.

The county will not certify the results of the election until after the 30-day Official Election Canvass. The Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder/County Clerk still must count remaining Vote by Mail ballots received on Election Day, provisional ballots, write-in ballots and damaged ballots.

Nearly 22,000 residents were registered to vote in Beverly Hills in 2020, a year in which over 42% of registered voters cast a ballot, or about 9,160 voters—the highest turnout since 1982. Turnout seems unlikely to reach similar levels this year, despite the option of universal mail-in voting.

In order from highest to lowest number of votes, the candidates trailing the top five vote-getters as of press time include Vera Markowitz (1,009), Darian Bojeaux (445), Shiva Bagheri (292), Kevin Kugley (231), Akshat "AB" Bhatia (193), and Robin Rowe (180).

Markowitz declined to comment on the results. At her election night party, she expressed frustration with "the voters of Beverly Hills."

"My wife, City Treasurer candidate Gabrielle Pantera-Rowe, and I thank the many Beverly Hills voters who supported us in this week's City election," Rowe told the Courier. "Although we didn't win this election, we won in the sense we got on the ballot so voters who support progressive politicians at least had someone they could vote for who isn't an authoritarian or a narcissist."

Bhatia told the Courier that even though the election is over, "my campaign is not," and that he will "continue to fight for the residents and small businesses of our city."

Bojeaux said she would not concede "only because I wish to see the total vote counts" but said that the results showed that candidates benefited from incumbency and "greater donations."

"Brushing elbows with incumbents makes residents feel connected, and they seem to vote for those they like even when unaware of their positions and voting records," she told the Courier.

Bagheri conceded her campaign saying that she felt "good about her first run for Beverly Hills City Council."

"Unfortunately, I wasn't able to canvas all of Beverly Hills and didn't raise as much money as many of the other candidates but feel good about the impact I made with the little I had to work with," she told the Courier.

Kugley expressed hope that the winners, whoever they may be, "will fight for the wonderful people of Beverly Hills."

He added, "They should work relentlessly on public safety, ease regulation on us, and continually listen to the residents." ●

Astrology

BY HOLIDAY MATIS

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You didn't cause the tension, but with charm and strategy you'll dissolve it. Regardless of whether the others can fully appreciate your social genius, it sure does make (SET ITAL) your (END ITAL) life easier!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). This day feels like a quiz, except the answers won't be found in small writing, upside down on the bottom of the page. It's all a guess now, but next week you'll know what you got right.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Relationship problems happen when people project their hopes and fears onto one another. You'll avoid assuming people are who you want them to be. Instead, you'll make every effort to learn who they really are.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Manage stress better and finances improve or manage finances better and stress dissolves. With your positive attitude, no matter how you go about the problem, you win!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Though "leave no trace" is one of your mottoes for being in nature, it doesn't work in every scene. Your mere presence often changes things. Today it's for the better, and you'll go somewhere that could really use the improvement.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). People are more likely to intrude on boundaries that are not well marked. When it matters enough, you'll make the rules and decide how they are enforced -- the equivalent of a gated entry.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). It can't hurt to be a little strategic with the party mood that prevails. Consider who might be good for you to know and mingle accordingly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). An attempt to solve other people's problems often shows you how much people actually like their problems and don't want them solved. You'll avoid that drama today with an exclusive focus on your own scene.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're moving on to better things, which aren't necessarily bigger things; rather, they are things more suited to you. Large quantities of mediocre hold no appeal to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Someone who points out your mistakes might not be the most pleasant person to be around, but nonetheless will be instrumental in today's rapid growth and tomorrow's stellar opportunity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Your smile and your willingness to go along with the fun are a gift to others and they will repay you for it too, with a sense of belonging as they include you time and again.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The job isn't as easy as you thought it would be. Trying too hard can push things in a worse direction. Relax. Oddly, good results come with less effort.

This week meet Eggplant. She's a 4-month-old, 12-pound Wheaton terrier mix. At full size, she will weigh 40-50 pounds. If you can add this puppy to your family, please contact Shelter of Hope at 805-379-3538.

Daniel Bodily, of Woodbury, Minn., is an R&D robotics engineer. Jeff Chen, of Seattle, is a professional writer and crossword constructor. Dan started making puzzles three years ago. "Every once in a while I pick a 'mammoth goal' — something way out of my comfort zone," and in 2019 that was to have a crossword published in The Times. This is his second (and his first Sunday). Public Notices

RFQUAL # 22-350-50

CITY OF BEVERLY HILLS
PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT
345 FOOTHILL ROAD
BEVERLY HILLS, CALIFORNIA 90210

NOTICE OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A QUALIFIED PLUMBING CONTRACTORS LIST

Notice is hereby given that the City of Beverly Hills ("CITY") requests qualified plumbing contractors to submit their name and pertinent information to be placed on a list of qualified plumbing contractors. This list shall comply with Section 22034 of the California Uniform Public Construction Cost Accounting Act.

Purpose of the List

The purpose of the list is to have a compilation of interested and qualified plumbing contractors (License Class "C-36") that the City may use for negotiated or informal bidding as projects arise for one year, with an up to three year extension. Up to five of the highest ranking contractors will be on the qualified roofing contractors list. The City reserves the right to reject any or all submissions and to waive any informality or irregularity.

Contractor's questionnaire and forms can be downloaded from the City's PlanetBids portal: <https://www.planetbids.com/portal/portal.cfm?CompanyID=39493>

The item is listed as: Notice of the Establishment of a Qualified Plumbing Contractors List

The last date to submit a fully completed questionnaire is 5:00 PM Thursday, June 30, 2022. All qualification submittals are required to be submitted electronically via Planet Bids. The electronic submittal system will close exactly at the date and time set forth in this request for qualifications.

Answers to questions contained in the questionnaire are required. The CITY will use these documents as the basis of rating Contractors with respect to whether each Contractor is qualified, and reserves the right to check other sources available. The CITY's decision will be based on objective evaluation criteria.

The CITY reserves the right to adjust, increase, limit, suspend or rescind the prequalification rating based on subsequently learned information. Contractors whose rating changes sufficiently to disqualify them will be notified, and given an opportunity for a hearing consistent with the hearing procedures described below for appealing a prequalification rating.

Any questions regarding any error, omission, ambiguity or conflict in the questionnaire should be submitted through PlanetBids no later than 2:00PM on June 22, 2022. Questions sent via email or over the phone, with the exception of those related to accessing or using PlanetBids, will not be answered. Requests for clarification received after this date or sent/posed directly to Staff may be disregarded. For any other questions regarding this prequalification, please contact City Contact(s) below:
Karen Domerchie (kdomerchie@beverlyhills.org)

Contractors are responsible for submitting and having their documents accepted before the closing time set forth in the request for qualifications. NOTE: Pushing the submit button on the electronic submittal system may not be instantaneous; it may take time for the Contractor's documents to upload and transmit before the documents are accepted. It is the Contractor's sole responsibility to ensure their documents are uploaded, transmitted, and arrive in time electronically. The City of Beverly Hills will have no responsibility for documents that do not arrive in a timely manner, no matter what the reason.

The prequalification packages shall be labeled "NOTICE OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A QUALIFIED PLUMBING CONTRACTORS LIST"

The prequalification packages submitted by Contractors are not public records and are not open to public inspection. All information provided will be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law. However, the contents may be disclosed to third parties for purpose of verification, or investigation of substantial allegations, or in an appeal hearing. State law requires that the names of contractors applying for prequalification status shall be public records subject to disclosure, and the first page of the questionnaire will be used for that purpose.

Each questionnaire must be signed under penalty of perjury in the manner designated at the end of the form, by an individual who has the legal authority to bind the Contractor on whose behalf that person is signing. If any information provided by a Contractor becomes inaccurate, the Contractor must immediately notify the CITY and provide updated accurate information in writing, under penalty of perjury.

The CITY reserves the right to waive minor irregularities and omissions in the information contained in the prequalification application submitted, and to make all final determinations. The CITY may also determine at any time that the prequalification process will be suspended.

Contractors who submit a complete prequalification package will be notified of their qualification status no later than ten business days after submission of the information.

The CITY may refuse to grant prequalification where the requested information and materials are not provided by the due date indicated above. There is no appeal from a refusal for an incomplete or late application. Neither the closing time for submitting prequalification packages will be changed in order to accommodate supplementation of incomplete submissions, or late submissions, unless requested by the CITY in its sole discretion.

In addition to a contractor's failure to be pre-qualified pursuant to the scoring system set forth in the prequalification package, a contractor may be found not prequalified for either omission of, or falsification of, any requested information.

Where a timely and completed application results in a rating below that necessary to pre-qualify, an appeal can be made by the unsuccessful Contractor. An appeal is begun by the Contractor delivering notice to the CITY of its appeal of the decision with respect to its prequalification rating, no later than two business days following notification that it is not pre-qualified. The notice of appeal shall include an address where the Contractor wishes to receive notice of the appeal hearing. Without a timely appeal, the Contractor waives any and all rights to challenge the decision of the CITY, whether by administrative process, judicial process or any other legal process or proceeding.

If the Contractor gives the required notice of appeal, a hearing shall be conducted no earlier than five business days after the CITY's receipt of the notice of appeal. Prior to the hearing, the Contractor shall, in writing, be advised of the basis for the City's pre-qualification determination.

The hearing shall be conducted by a panel consisting of three members of the Public Works Department senior management staff (the "Appeals Panel"). The Appeals Panel shall consider any evidence presented by the Contractor, whether or not the evidence is presented in compliance with formal rules of evidence. The Contractor will be given the opportunity to present evidence, information and arguments as to why the Contractor believes it should be pre-qualified. Within one day after the conclusion of the hearing, the Appeals Panel will render a written determination as to whether the Contractor is pre-qualified. It is the intention of the CITY that the date for the submission and opening of bids will not be delayed or postponed to allow for completion of an appeal process.
